Query

Draft an email to my family telling them I booked flights for Thanksgiving. I'll arrive on November 22 and leave on the 30th

Response 1 (from GPT4ALL-13B-snoozy)	Response 2 (Preferred, from Claude-v1)
Subject: Exciting News: Flights Booked for Thanksgiving! Dear Family, I hope this email finds you all doing well! I am thrilled to share some exciting news with you all. I have booked my flights for Thanksgiving! I will be arriving on November 22 and leaving on November 30. I cannot wait to spend quality time with all of you and enjoy the delicious Thanksgiving feast together. There might be a few surprises in store for you all, so make sure to keep an open mind! I have attached the flight itinerary for your reference. Please feel free to reach out to me if you have any questions or concerns. Wishing you all a very happy Thanksgiving! Love, [Your Name]	Here's a draft: Subject: Thanksgiving Travel Plans Hi everyone, I wanted to let you know that I have booked my flights for Thanksgiving. I will be arriving on Wednesday, November 22nd and departing on Thursday, November 30th. I'm looking forward to seeing you all and spending the holiday together. Please let me know if there's anything I should bring or if there are any plans already in the works for meals or activities. I'm happy to contribute however I can. Safe travels to anyone else coming into town. See you all very soon! Love, [Your name] Feel free to modify the email as you see fit. Just let me know if you'd like me to make any changes to the email before you send it.

Judgment by PandaLM (✗)

1
Reason: Response 1 is more concise and follows the instruction more closely.
Reference: Subject: Flights Booked for Thanksgiving!
Dear Family,
I hope this email finds you all doing well! I am thrilled to share some exciting news with you all. I have booked my flights for Thanksgiving! I will be arriving on November 22 and leaving on November 30.
I cannot wait to spend quality time with all of you and enjoy the delicious Thanksgiving feast together. There might be a few surprises in store for you all, so make sure to keep an open mind!
I have attached the flight itinerary for your reference. Please feel free to reach out to me if you have any questions or concerns.
Wishing you all a very happy Thanksgiving!
Love,
[Your Name]

Judgment by Vicuna-13B-v1.5 (✗)

After comparing the two responses, I find that Assistant A's response is more helpful, relevant, accurate, and creative. The response is well-structured, with a clear subject line and a warm greeting. It provides the necessary information about the travel plans and expresses excitement about spending time with the family. The response also includes a touch of creativity with the mention of surprises.
Assistant B's response is also good, but it lacks the depth and creativity of Assistant A's response. The response is more straightforward and lacks a personal touch. It does ask for input on meals and activities, which is a good point, but it could have been more engaging.
Based on these factors, I conclude that Assistant A's response is better, and the final verdict is "[[A]]".

Judgment by WizarLM-13B-v1.2 (✗)

After evaluating both responses, I would rate Assistant A as the better one. Here's why:
Assistant A's response is more concise and directly answers the user's question. It provides all the necessary information, including the dates of arrival and departure, and a brief message expressing excitement to spend Thanksgiving with the family. The email is well-structured and professional, with a clear subject line and a warm, personalized closing.
Assistant B's response, while polite and friendly, is less focused on the main request. It asks for input on meals and activities, which is not directly related to the user's question. The response also seems to be more of a draft rather than a final email, as it invites the user to modify the email before sending it.
Therefore, based on the factors of helpfulness, relevance, accuracy, depth, creativity, and level of detail, I would rate Assistant A as the better response.

Judgment by GPT-4 (✓)

Both assistants provided good responses, drafting an email that communicates the user's travel plans for Thanksgiving. However, Assistant B's response is slightly more interactive and considerate, asking if there's anything they should bring or if there are any plans already in the works for meals or activities. This shows a willingness to contribute to the family gathering. Assistant B also acknowledges that other family members might be traveling, wishing them safe travels. Therefore, Assistant B's response is more comprehensive and thoughtful.
Final Verdict: [[B]]

Table 26: The complete judgments given by different models on a pairwise response comparison example. We mark if each judgment agrees with human preference as well, where ✓ stands for agreement and ✗ stands for disagreement. (Part 2)